Order of LightWorkers (LW™ Series)

Rev. Dr. Uwe Gonzalez Burgunder has committed his life to helping others grow and realizing their true potential. He has an extremely perceptive nature and his talent as a Spiritual Teacher and Healing Facilitator, has lead to his emergence as a well known figure in the fields of Self-Awareness, Spiritual Unfoldment and Universal Laws Life Coaching. These areas work together, assisting a person to become healthier and whole in all ways.

Uwe Gonzalez Burgunder was born on October 3, 1970 and currently lives with his wife and daughter in a small town near Cologne, Germany. He has been gifted with psychic abilities since childhood. His spiritual awakening occurred in 1990. It was at that time that Uwe was given the ability to accurately channel Divine messages from Angels. This is an ability he has continued to hone and in 1995 he started assisting people with Spiritual Healing and advising them in their spiritual lives.

He has since received Reiki teachings from Master Teachers all over the world and became a Reiki Teacher. Uwe have been attuned to large number of different healing modalities. He's an ordained Minister and an honorary Doctor of Philosophy in Religion and Metaphysics. In his commitment to being of service to those who seek to bring more Light to Earth and help one another on our spiritual paths, Uwe founded LightWorkers Healing Federation. This online community has since grown to over one thousand members.

Not only is Uwe skilled in many types of Reiki and other Divine Healing and Enlightenment Energies from many sacred ancient spiritual traditions, he has the incredible natural ability to bring new Divine Energy Systems through from beyond and make them available to each of us! These are similar to the well known and trusted subtle energy, Reiki, yet of a slightly different octave, if you would like to think of them in a musical sense. All that is required is that a person be a sincere seeker of more meaning in their lives and want a better connection with the core of their own being. These unique energy systems foster a sense of well being and are great stress relievers! Think of it as receiving a dose of an energy frequency that then give you a key to receive directly from the Universe, more doses

I am delighted to present some of his attunements here in the LightWorker™ Series.

Order of LightWorkers Initiation

White Brotherhood of Light on Earth

What is a LightWorker, what is LightWork ?

A LightWorker is a Person who feels inspired to help others through spiritual meditation, teaching, healing, prayer, writing and speaking through unconditional love. LightWorkers can come from a variety of spiritual traditions and backgrounds, yet generally agree that the healing light they work with is comprised of eternal energy connecting everyone and everything in the universe, and that it is possible for people to connect consciously with divine light energies through intention.

This energy is sometimes viewed as the energy of the divine creator (or God) within us all – sometimes referred to as "inner light" or divine spark.

The term LightWorker also refers to a person who works with light energy according to a wide variety of New age and Alternative healing practices. Some of the more common forms of this form of light work are: healing modalities that use different energetic processes such as Reiki, and balancing or connecting energies from one place to another, such as from the universe to the earth grids.

Probably the most common form of Lightwork would be a person who chooses to "shine their light." The premise behind the concept of "shining your light" is that our world and society are improved by people being kind, compassionate, loving, and considerate to each other. It is choosing to use actions, thoughts and words to create situations that show others they are appreciated, cared for, and loved. A person who chooses to use the label LightWorker, often indicates a person who sees being loving and compassionate to others as a spiritual path – a path to connecting with the divine.

A LightWorker's mission is to walk upon the face of the planet lightly, as the rainbow warriors of our time, and shine our love, happiness, and peace into the world.

The LightWorker's identity

LightWorkers are souls who carry the strong inner desire to spread Light – knowledge, freedom and self-love – on earth. They sense this as their mission. They are often attracted to spirituality and to therapeutic work of some kind.

Because of their deeply felt mission, LightWorkers often feel different from other people. By experiencing different kinds of obstacles on their way, life provokes them to find their own unique path. LightWorkers are nearly always solitary individuals, not fitting into fixed societal structures.

A note on the notion of “LightWorker”

The word “LightWorker” may evoke misunderstanding, since it lifts out a particular group of souls from the rest. It may be taken to suggest that this particular group is somehow superior to the others, i.e. those “not working for the light.” This whole line of thought is at odds with the very nature and intent of lightwork. Let us state briefly what is wrong with it.

First, claims of superiority are generally unenlightened. They block your growth toward a free and loving consciousness. Second, LightWorkers are not “better” or “higher” than anyone else. They simply have a different history than the ones not belonging to this group. Because of this particular history, which we will discuss below, they have certain psychological characteristics which distinguish them as a group. Third, every soul becomes a LightWorker at some stage of its unfolding, so the label “LightWorker” is not reserved to a limited number of souls.

The reason we use the word “LightWorker” despite possible misunderstandings is because it carries associations and stirs memories within you that help you remember. There is a practical convenience to it as well, since the term is frequently used in your current spiritual literature.

Historical roots of LightWorkers

LightWorkers carry within them the ability to attain spiritual awakening faster than other people. They carry inner seeds for a rapid spiritual awakening. With regard to this, they seem to be on a faster track than most people, if they choose it. This again is not because LightWorkers are in any way “better” or “higher” souls. They are, however, older than most souls presently incarnate on earth. This older age should preferably be understood in terms of experience rather than time.

LightWorkers have reached a particular stage of enlightenment before they incarnate on earth and start their mission. They consciously choose to become entrenched in the “karmic wheel of life” and to experience all forms of confusion and illusion that go with it.

They do this in order to fully understand “earth experience.” This will enable them to fulfill their mission. Only by going through all stages of ignorance and illusion themselves will they eventually own the tools to help others achieve a state of true happiness and enlightenment.

Why do LightWorkers pursue this heartfelt mission to help humanity, thereby running the risk of losing themselves for ages in the heaviness and confusion of earth life? This is a question we will deal with extensively below. For now we will say that it has to do with a galactic type of karma. LightWorkers stood on the eve of humanity’s birth on earth. They took part in the creation of man. They were co-creators of humanity. In the process of creation, they made choices and acted in ways which they came to regret deeply afterwards. They are here now to make up for their decisions back then.

Before we go into this particular history, we will name a few characteristics of LightWorker souls which generally distinguish them from other people. These psychological traits do not uniquely belong to LightWorkers and not all LightWorkers will recognize all of them as theirs. By drawing up this list, we simply want to give an outline of the LightWorker’s psychological identity. With regard to the characteristics, outer behavior is of less importance than inner motivation or felt intent. What you feel inside is more important than what you show outside.

Psychological characteristics of LightWorkers

From early on in their life, they feel they are different. More often than not they feel isolated from others, lonely and misunderstood. They will often become individualists who will have to find their own unique ways in life.

They have trouble feeling at home within traditional jobs and/or organization structures. LightWorkers are naturally anti-authoritarian which means that they naturally resist decisions or values based solely on power or hierarchy. This anti-authoritarian trait is present even if they seem timid and shy. It is connected to the very essence of their mission here on earth.

LightWorkers feel drawn to helping people as a therapist or as a teacher. They may be psychologists, healers, teachers, nurses, etc. Even if their profession is not about helping people in a direct manner, the intent to contribute to the higher good of humanity is clearly present.

Their vision of life is colored by a spiritual sense of how all things are related together. They consciously or subconsciously carry memories within them of non-earthly spheres of light. They may occasionally feel homesick for these spheres and feel like a stranger on earth.

They deeply honor and respect life which often manifests as a fondness for animals and a concern for the environment. The destruction of parts of the animal and vegetable kingdoms on earth by human doing invokes deep feelings of loss and grief in them. They are kind-hearted, sensitive and empathic. They may have trouble dealing with aggressive behavior and they generally experience difficulties in standing up for themselves. They can be dreamy, naive or highly idealistic, as well as insufficiently grounded, i.e. down-to-earth. Because they easily pick up negative feelings and moods of people around them, it is important for them to spend time alone on a regular basis. This enables them to distinguish between their own feelings and those of others. They need solitary time to touch base with themselves and with mother earth.

They have lived many lives on earth in which they were deeply involved with spirituality and/or religion. They were present in overwhelming numbers in the old religious orders of your past as monks, nuns, hermits, psychics, witches, shamans, priests, priestesses, etc. They were the ones providing a bridge between the visible and the invisible, between the daily context of earth life and the mysterious realms of the afterlife, realms of God and the spirits of good and evil. For fulfilling this role, they were often rejected and persecuted. Many of you were sentenced to the stake for the gifts you possessed. The traumas of persecution left deep traces within your soul's memory. This may presently manifest as a fear of being fully grounded, i.e. a fear to be really present, because you remember being brutally attacked for who you were

The LightWorker's Prayer

by Doreen Virtue

"I choose to stay centered in the awareness of love, God, and my true self. In this center, like the eye of a hurricane, all is tranquil, safe, and peaceful. My power, wisdom, and peace comes from staying in this center, and I ask for spiritual support from God and His angels to keep my mind aligned with the truth.

I willingly detach from the material world, know that that by so doing, I can effectively heal others. I trust God to provide my every need, and I allow His omnipotent wisdom to direct me in all ways.

I accept a steady diet of love and joy, knowing that I deserve happiness and health. I willingly and lovingly release all ego judgments about myself and other people, knowing that everything I want comes from my decision to experience the oneness of all life.

I know I am meant to be a healer and a teacher for God, and I now accept my mission fully without delay or reservation. I surrender all behaviors that would block me from hearing my inner voice, and I happily trust my inner guide to lead me along the LightWorker's way, where I joyfully serve as an instrument of love. I release any doubts or fears I may have about fulfilling my Divine mission, and I now commit to staying aware of my inner Voice of God. I know that this is the only tool I will ever need for my own healing and the healing of the world.

Amen."

Initiation to the Order of LightWorkers

Initiation is not ordination. It is quite different.

To be initiated is to be linked by Divine power and allowed to carry this power to others. The initiation process is one of direct intent. It is simple and only requires acceptance. You may state your intent to the energy of god. Through the help of quiet meditation and asking God to enter his enlightened energy into each chakra, the transformation will take place. The individual who acts as initiator, be it at a distance or directly beside the initiate; intends with you and completes the process. We act in accordance to the scripture that states: 'Any two of you who agree in prayer and ask for whatever you so desire, It shall be granted unto you by Me, through my Father in Heaven.'

The words of the initiation are vows that we take to show our serious intent to follow Spirit/Divine Source from this day forward. Consider this day one that will change your life. You are now a Priest of the Order of LightWorkers .

Welcome to the Order. We welcome you with love, Light and Peace this day and forever more.

Preparation for the Self Initiation

One of the most important aspects of preparation is meditation. Take a moment to center and ground, taking a few gentle cleansing breaths to align and connect to the Gods energy.

State your intent to receive the Initiation; and then begin

- "I wish, to be initiated into the Order of LightWorkers at this time and in this place."
- "I've now prepared to be initiated into the Order of LightWorkers ."
- "I now intent Gods energy to flow into each chakra and into your hands and feet, and accept this energy with Love and Light"

Take a few moments and allow the energy to move up your chakras and fill your hands and feet. Breathe gently and follow the energy as it moves into your chakras.

Put your hands in prayer-position and state the following:

- I now intent that my mind will always open to the Divine Source.

Take a cleansing breath, and exhale...

- I now intent that my eyes are always see and understand the ways of Divine Source.

Take a cleansing breath, and exhale...

- I now intent that my voice will channel love and respect of Divine Source towards all Beings.

Take a breath, exhale...

- I now intent that my Heart will always be an open channel for the love of Spirit, and that Divine Source enter in now to live within in me and allow me to serve as a Priest of the Order of LightWorkers

Take a breath, exhale....

- I now intent that I may grow in the Love, Light and Peace of Divine Source each day and forever.

Take a breath, exhale.....

- I now accept and intent that my life will be attuned to the fullest potential of Love, Peace, Joy and Prosperity through Divine Source; for this is what Divine Source intents for Me at this time and forever more!

Take a breath, exhale....

- I call upon the power and energy of God to initiate me and I accept this initiation with gratitude, love, joy and peace.

Be very still, follow your breath ...

- At this moment and at this time, forever more; I now intent that God walk with me on all my spiritual paths, guiding me all throughout; in the Divine Source's love, Light and peace.

You're all now Priest forever, according to the Order of LightWorkers

Welcome newly initiated Priest, to the Order of LightWorkers. Welcome to our Brotherhood/Sisterhood of Love and Light

If for any reason, you feel a weakening of the energy, all you need to do is re-establish the connection by intent and ask for Gods energy to flow through your chakras. The flow of energy begins immediately and re-charges the chakras and heavenly bodies and aura from that moment on. This manual may be used freely as well as the document of initiation for remembrance. Do remember, this is initiation only; not ordination.

It is asked that this energy be passed freely to anyone who desires, as it is given as a gift of Spirit to you.

Be blessed this day with love, peace, joy and prosperity.
